

The Wonderful Desert

By Jose Longoria

Chirp, Chirp!

I hear cardinals chirping as they have an interesting conversation.

Hoo, Hoo!

The owl's alert of predators coming to scavenge for food.

Aoooh, Aoooh!

The coyotes howling talking to each other.

Slither, slither!

The snake slithers through the rocky terrain of the desert.

I smell the amazing scent of the creosote,

As my mom walks through the bushes crackling
all the sticks on the ground
