

The Beauty of the Sonoran Desert

There is always a warm and pretty sunrise in the Sonoran Desert

There is always a beautiful rainbow after a rainfall on a sunny day

There is always a glorious sunset after a rainstorm

There is always a magic in the night sky with shimmering stars.

I always love to find out the ages of each Saguaro Cactus

I always love to see Creosote bushes in the Sonoran Desert

I always love to hear the Cactus Wren and Red cardinal tweets

I always love to watch Roadrunners run across the road.

The toads that listen for thunder and coyotes that howl at the stars

The tortoise that eat cacti and owls that burrow in Cacti

The lizards that swim trough sand and spiders as big as saucers

The bighorn sheep that rarely drink and snakes that burrow in the sand.

I feel very happy to live in the Sonoran Desert

Some People think the Sonoran Desert is just a dryland,

With strange plants and great sweeping skies, but look very carefully and we will see many interesting creatures.
